Hints and Tips

How to choose an Adhesive Tape

Even if a self-adhesive tape can be applied on almost all materials, it is good sense to evaluate application parameters and conditions before making a choice.

Application Surface

Normally self-adhesive tapes are compatible with a majority of application surfaces and materials, but sometimes some of them low compatibility or anti-adhesive properties. In some cases the adhesion could be difficult, or bond could be affected by chemical interaction. It is always recommended to carry out compatibility tests.

Conditions of use

Best temperature for application ranges between 15°C and 25°C in a dry environment and it is preferable not to apply the tape with temperatures lower than 10°C. If application temperatures are substantially different from these the adhesive can behave differently according to its chemical nature.

For best results please consider these practical suggestions:

- Application surfaces must be dry and free from dust.
- Do not apply on surfaces treated or contaminated by anti-adhesives.
- Do not use paints containing additives which could reduce the adhesive properties.
- Avoid contact with surfaces containing plasticizers or other chemical agents not compatible with the tape.
- Smooth surfaces increase adhesion. In case of rough or irregular surfaces, it is better to use tape with a higher quantity of adhesive.

Tape storage

Suggested storage temperature shall range between 15°C and 25°C with maximum relative humidity of 65%. Material shall be stored away from heat sources and possible kept in the original package, avoiding light exposure as well. When temperatures are lower than suggested, it is always required to recondition the material by keeping it under between 15°C and 25°C for 24 hours or at 50°C windless oven for 1 hour.

Tape shelf life

Self-adhesive tapes technical features are generally not permanent but remain at their best for a minimum of 12 months, if stored according to suggested conditions and avoiding extreme environmental conditions such as quick and sudden temperature changes, extremely high or low temperatures, high levels of humidity, etc.

The adhesive tape experience of Kuntal Industries is always available for any technical information or support and we can advise best solutions for any specific requirement.
